The Sacramento Adventure Playground is a free out-of-school youth development program powered by Fairytale Town. The Playground is a place where youth can use raw materials to create projects and play spaces that reflect their own ideas and vision. Popular in Europe, Adventure Playgrounds are rare in the United States. Essentially 'makers' laboratories, Adventure Playgrounds put real tools—paints, clay, hammers, nails, saws, gardening supplies, etc.—into the hands of youth so they can create their own things and spaces with facilitation rather than direction from adults. Playground staff is present to facilitate the play.
